Policies Relating to Suzuki Students

2/16/08

Our mission is to provide a fun and nurturing music education experience for those families who are committed to the basic tenants of the Suzuki philosophy. This document, as amended quarterly, describes the studio policies that apply to such families. Issues discussed include group class attendance and timeliness, initial training and ongoing discussion groups for home coaches, quarterly fees and payment due dates, make-up lessons, cancellations due to weather, teacher illness and other emergencies, recital attire, and expectations for behavior during lesson observations.

Group Classes

Attendance:

Regular group class attendance is critically important for your child's musical development. Material missed due to late arrival or absence will be covered during the student's next private lesson. Moreover, frequent absence, on the part of any child, has a significant negative impact on the quality of the group experience for their peers. As a consequence, group class attendance will be tracked, and a child who accumulates more than 3 "misses" (see also "No Shows:" and "Timeliness:", below) in a given quarter will be A) excluded from the next studio recital, and B) placed on "probation" for the subsequent 3 quarters. If the child accumulates more than 3 "misses" in a quarter during the probationary period, they will be asked to leave the studio.

No Shows:

If your child will be unable to attend a group class for any reason other than last minute illness, please let us know by the end of business the day before so that lesson plans can be adjusted accordingly. Except for last minute illnesses, failure to notify the studio of your child's upcoming absence from group class will count as 2 "misses" for attendance tracking purposes.

Timeliness:

In fairness to those who arrive on time, group classes must begin promptly, as scheduled. Also, when a teacher stops in the middle of a group class to set up a tardy student's stool and footstool and to tune their instrument, it dramatically disrupts the class. Consequently, please arrive at least 5 minutes before the scheduled start time of your child's group class. Any arrival after 5 minutes prior to the start of a group class will be deemed "late." Two "lates" in a quarter will count as a "miss" for attendance tracking purposes.

Any child who arrives after a group class is already underway is welcome to observe, but not participate in, what remains of the class. If you find yourself in this situation, please have your child sit with you in one of the home coach seating areas. Please do not disrupt the class by attempting to set them up yourself while class is in session.

Fees

The standard quarterly fee for a child involved in the Suzuki program is $360. When 2 or more siblings are members of the program, the quarterly fee for the second and all additional siblings is $300. These fees are non-refundable.

Due Dates – Child’s First Full Quarter

In order to mitigate the cash crunch associated with acquiring an instrument and all the associated accessories, parents of new students will be allowed to pay their first quarterly fee in 3 roughly equal installments. The payment schedule for these installments is: first payment due at the child’s first regularly scheduled private lesson, second payment due at the child’s fourth regularly scheduled private lesson, third payment due at the child’s seventh regularly scheduled private lesson. For families that start mid-quarter, special arrangements will be made for payment of fees relating to the partial quarter.

Due Date – Child’s Second Full, and All Subsequent, Quarters

The due date for fees for the child’s second and all subsequent quarters will be the date of the child’s regularly scheduled private lesson in the last week of the current quarter.

By meeting this due date, parents will reserve their child’s private lesson slot for the coming quarter. If payment for the coming quarter has not been received by the due date, the child’s lesson slot may be made available to new prospective students and to those veteran students who wish to make a scheduling change. Finally, we request that any parent who is contemplating leaving the studio be considerate of those who may be on a waiting list by letting us know, as far in advance as possible, when you will no longer be studying with us.

Home Coach Training & Discussion Groups

Training:

During a student’s first quarter in the program, parents are expected to attend four, one and a half hour “home coach” training sessions. During these sessions, the home coach will learn about the Suzuki philosophy, how to make the most of the child’s individual and group lessons, how to make the home practice sessions fun, and how to play the first few tunes the child will learn on their instrument. It has been our experience that these sessions are critical to the parent’s understanding of how and why our program works, and therefore to the success of the student. As a consequence, attendance is mandatory. If you are unable to make all four of these sessions, please let the director know, in advance, so that alternative arrangements can be made.

Discussion Groups:

Once a family has been a part of our program for a full quarter, the home coach will be invited to attend “veteran” home coach continuing education sessions. While these sessions are optional, and are not counted for attendance tracking purposes, they do often cover topics important to the child’s music education experience. During these quarterly, one-hour, adult-only sessions, as well as dealing with administrative issues that pertain to the coming quarter, we will address home coach questions, brainstorm problems and discuss ideas that have come up in the course of the most recent quarter. We may also discuss readings that have been assigned during the preceding quarter or technical issues (such as tuning or stringing a guitar) which can be most efficiently taught in a group setting and yet may not be appropriate for younger students. If a home coach does not attend the discussion group, the director reserves the right to use some, or all, of the student’s next private lesson time to review the more important points discussed.

Make-Up Policy

Group Classes

Make-ups will not be given for group classes missed by the student.

Either a make-up or a pro-rata refund (at the discretion of the director) will be offered for a group class canceled by the studio for weather, teacher illness or other similar event.

Individual Lessons

Make-ups will not be given for individual lessons missed by the student.

As a consequence, a password protected student phone list can be found on the web site. It is strongly recommended that, if you know you have to miss a lesson, you try to arrange to swap with another student, and if successful, notify the teacher of the scheduling change ahead of time.

Either a make-up or a pro-rata refund (at the discretion of the studio) will be offered for a private lesson canceled by the studio for weather, teacher illness or other similar event.

Weather Cancellations

The Guitar for Kids Studio will follow the Boulder Valley School District (BVSD) in terms of cancellations for weather. On any day which the BVSD schools are closed due to weather, the Guitar for Kids Studio will also be closed. Also, the studio will be closed on any day which the BVSD school children are sent home early due to weather. Otherwise, the studio will be open and lessons will take place.

If you call, but can't reach the studio to learn about a weather cancellation, there are three other ways to find out if the BVSD schools and the studio have been closed, or are sending children home:

- 1) check the "Studio Closures" button on the Guitar for Kids web site at www.guitarforkids.com, or
- 2) go directly to the Boulder Valley School District web page at bvsd.org. School closures are prominently displayed at or near the top of the home page.

Performances - Attire & Timeliness

Unless otherwise specified, Guitar for Kids Studio students will be required to wear a dark gray or black skirt or slacks, and a white dress shirt or blouse to all public performances and recitals. The arrival time for all recitals and public performances is ½ hour before the scheduled start time. A child who does not make the above arrival time will be excluded from participation in the recital.

Observation of, and Participation in, Another Student's Lesson

One tenet of the Suzuki Method is that all children should be encouraged to observe and, when appropriate, be invited to participate in, the "private" lessons of other students. The Guitar for Kids Studio invites parents to bring their children to lessons early and to stay late, in order to provide opportunities for this kind of joint learning. It must be understood, however, that even under the best of circumstances, the arrival or departure of another family can temporarily disrupt the flow of a lesson already underway. As a consequence, standards for behavior must actually be higher for those children who are observing, than for those whose lesson it is. Please, when entering the studio with your child, be mindful of the potential impact your arrival may have on the student who is already in session. If your child appears prepared to sit and observe quietly, by all means, bring them in. If, however, their mood suggests that their behavior may be difficult to manage, please wait with them in the car until the other student's lesson is nearly finished. Thank you for your consideration.

Home Coach Presence and Participation

Either the home coach or a responsible adult will be present for all of the child's lessons and group classes. A student may begin coming to lessons, unattended, when they are old enough to drive themselves.

Student Illness:

In the interests of keeping a safe and healthy environment for everyone in the studio, please do not bring your student to their lesson or group class under any of the following circumstances:

1. if the student was or, on a Saturday or vacation day, would have been kept or brought home from school due to illness,
2. if the student has a fever, or
3. if the student was up sick the night before the lesson or group class.

We all get colds, and if we take the proper precautions, the risk of spreading them can be significantly reduced. So, students who have colds are welcome to come to lessons or group classes, as long as the cold is not accompanied by symptoms such as a fever, chills or nausea, which may suggest a more serious illness. Please notify your teacher, upon arrival, if either you or your student have a cold.

Thank you for your understanding on this. We all stand to benefit.
